“NO MOUNTAIN TOO HIGH:

Challenging Change
With The Adventure Attitude”

“The challenge of change is forcing us to rethink our values and to rekindle our spirit of adventure. It will take courage, resourcefulness and endurance to meet this challenge - the courage to try, to commit and to take more risks; the resourcefulness to be innovative and creative in finding new ways of doing old things; and the endurance to keep moving forward despite all the setbacks.”

- John Amatt

John Amatt knows about tough times and the value of struggle in bringing out the best in teams of people! After all, he was a leader of an Everest expedition, which suffered four tragic deaths in two unpredictable accidents before putting six climbers on top of the world. His experience on Everest taught him about the danger of falling into the trap of complacency and the importance of always questioning the status quo in seeking new ways of adapting to a rapidly changing world. John’s mission in going to Everest was to place one of his team on top of the world’s highest mountain. In his own words ... “It didn’t matter who reached the summit, because we believed that when one person stood on the highest point, the whole team had achieved the goal”.

A superb storyteller, John has delivered highly motivational presentations to more than 2,000 audiences in 48 countries on 6 continents worldwide. After a career of 30 years, he is one of the world’s most successful adventure speakers. An educator by training, he uses the lessons learned from his own life-and-death adventures in the world’s most remote places to articulate down-to-earth strategies for meeting the challenges of change in corporate and professional life.
